ORDER FORM: NEW AFTINET TPPA LEAFLETS

“Trans-Pacific Partnership Agreement: Corporate Power vs People’s Rights.”

The Trans-Pacific Partnership Agreement (TPPA) is a free trade agreement involving Australia, the US, and 10 other countries in the Pacific. Negotiations are secretive, but we know from leaked documents and limited public information that this agreement is not mainly about trade in goods. The agenda is being driven by the US on behalf of its corporations, who want changes to our laws which would suit corporations but reduce peoples’ rights.

After three years of negotiations, the push is on to finish. We must ensure that our health, environmental and other laws are decided through democratic processes, not secretly signed away in a trade agreement.

AFTINET has produced an updated glossy leaflet with information about the key issues in the TPPA (updated October 2013), including investor rights to sue governments, access to medicines, workers’ rights, the environment, and internet freedom.

We can provide the leaflets for free, but we ask that you pay for the postage. Please see the attached order form.
