

ST COLUMBANS MISSION SOCIETY

Photo: beboy/Bigstock.com

A public forum

Key speaker: Fr Sean McDonagh

Plus a Panel of Scientific, Ecumenical and Aboriginal Respondents.

Bringing Laudato Si' To Life: From Vision to Action

The earth is the only one and it is our home. We must take care of it, not only from a scientific point of view, but more so, from a spiritual view. Everything within it is connected. Pope Francis' vision of integral ecology in Laudato Si' is of a new relationship between God, the earth and humanity. It is vital that we all act in solidarity to protect, preserve and propagate the interests of our home and its peoples.

Fr McDonagh was one of many consultants in the drafting of Laudato Si' in 2015. He recently participated in discussions at the Vatican on the encyclical's implementation. This event provides the opportunity to hear about some global and local perspectives and action on the implementation of the recommendations. There will be an opportunity for questions.

Date: Thursday November 10, 2016

Time: 6:00pm (for 6:30pm start) - 8:30pm

Where: Gleeson Auditorium, Australian Catholic University
25A Barker Rd, Strathfield NSW 2135 (Parking on site, ACU bus shuttle from Strathfield station)

RSVP: November 3, 2016

Columban Mission Institute, North Sydney, NSW 2059
(02) 9352 8000 cmi@columban.org.au

Fr Sean McDonagh SSC

Organised by the St Columbans Mission Society

In partnership with

Australian Catholic University

Catholic Earthcare Australia

Justice and Peace Office, Archdiocese of Sydney

Earthkin, Sisters of Mercy Parramatta

www.columban.org.au

